COSTA RICA            Reina Xiomara ZELAYA GONZÁLEZ, and her daughters:
Maryuri Johanna ZELAYA GONZÁLEZ, aged 6 (f)
Stephanía Xiomara CABALLERO ZELAYA, aged 12 (f)
Cynthia Lorena CABALLERO ZELAYA, aged 13 (f)

Amnesty International has received further reports of harassment by unidentified men against Reina Xiomara Zelaya González and her daughters.

On 7 October, two men approached Stephanía Xiomara as she was leaving school with a friend. Stephanía set off running until she reached her house. The headmaster of Stephanía's school told her mother that he had once seen a black car parked outside the school.

On 14 October, Reina Xiomara Zelaya took a taxi home after dining with a friend. An hour and a half later, the friend came to her house, saying that a man had approached him just after she had left and asked where she had gone, where she lived, what her name was and so on.

Reina Zelaya and her daughters are legal residents in Costa Rica, having been granted asylum there and, as such, are entitled to the protection of the state. In spite of appeals, the Costa Rican authorities have failed to give any protection to Reina and her family. Reina has told Amnesty International that she is now desperate to leave Costa Rica: "I can't face any more of this harassment," she said [No puedo más con este hostigamiento].

FURTHER RECOMMENDED ACTION: Please send telegrams/faxes/express/airmail letters in Spanish or in your own language:

- expressing alarm at further reports of harassment of Reina Xiomara Zelaya and her daughters, believed to be the work of members of the Honduran security forces;
- asking the Costa Rican authorities what measures they have taken to guarantee the safety of Reina Xiomara Zelaya and her family and urging that every effort be made to protect them from further threats;
- reiterating calls for an investigation into the reports of threats and harassment against the family and urging that anyone found responsible be immediately brought to justice;
- requesting that the Costa Rican authorities raise this as a matter of urgency with the Honduran government.
