Further information on EXTRA 159/99 (AMR 29/06/99, 12 November 1999) - Fear for safety / Death threats/ possible extrajudicial executionEL SALVADOR William Hernández, director of a non-governmental organization working with sexual minorities

The authorities have apparently refused to provide protection for William Hernández or investigate the death threats he has received. Amnesty International is concerned for his safety.

William Hernández is the executive director of the non-governmental organization Entre Amigos (Between Friends), which works with sexual minorities and provides sexual health education. The organisation has spoken out about human rights violations against sexual minorities and the failure of the authorities to investigate such abuses.

On 5 November 1999 an anonymous caller rang the Entre Amigos office, in the capital, San Salvador, and threatened to come and kill William Hernández, giving an accurate description of him.

Members of Entre Amigos reportedly met several times with a sergeant from the División de Protección a Personalidades Importantes, Important Persons Protection Unit, of the Policía Nacional Civil (PNC), National Civil Police, regarding the threats. However, in January the sergeant reportedly told them that the Attorney General's Office (Fiscalía General) had not ordered any official investigation, and that his unit had not been ordered to provide protection. The sergeant also said that none of the officers in the unit were prepared to provide protection to William Hernández, as they did not share his "sexual tastes" (gustos sexuales), and he should therefore hire a private security guard.

There have been further reports of attacks on members of sexual minorities. Nestor Adonai Marengo was murdered on 12 December 1999, apparently targeted because he was a known homosexual. Amnesty International is not aware of any progress in the investigation into the killing.

FURTHER RECOMMENDED ACTION: Please send telegrams/telexes/faxes/express/airmail letters in Spanish or in your own language:

- reminding the authorities of their legal obligation to investigate threats made against any citizen promptly, fully and impartially, and to take appropriate steps to guarantee their safety;
