Azerbaijan: Discrimination and segregation compound problems of internal displacement for hundreds of thousands of people

"We are ready to live with the Armenians of Karabakh and we have not forgotten our historical home there. But we won't see peace for at least ten years, that's why we want decent living conditions now."

"I don't need benefits, I'd rather have my compensation and integrate into society here in Baku. The government should stop deceiving me that I'll be able to return."

Azerbaijan: Displaced then discriminated against -- the plight of the internally displaced population, de jure
